

R410A
For Those Who Still Have Not
Had This Important Training.

Class objective:

To provide the dealer with the training necessary to properly and efficiently install and service products with R410A refrigerant. Many dealers are not aware of the important requirements of this refrigerant.

Topics covered:

Correct method of brazing line sets.
R410A installation and service requirements.
Compatibility of pre-existing components.
Handling of the POE oil.
Removing moisture from the oil.
Special techniques for burnout cleanup.
Special charging procedures.
Safe handling of the refrigerant.
Required tools and equipment.

Class Requirements:

Technician should be EPA certified.

NATE:

Class grants 4 hours credit towards NATE recertification.
Technician must have NATE card with them.

Duration:

Half day 8AM sharp to 12:00 Cancellations must be made within two business days to avoid being billed. "No Shows" will be billed.

Price / Includes

$65.00 per student.
Books, service manual, charging calculator. Morning coffee and donuts.

Where and When

Philadelphia	Main office 59 th St	Wednesday, March 7 th	2012
Camp Hill	490 St John's Church Rd	Thursday March 8 th	2012
Allentown	914 Marcon Blvd	Wednesday April 25 th	2012

How to sign up

On line @ www.peirce.com